Hide and Seek) is a Japanese short film written and directed by Shuhay Morita. The film entails playing Otokoyo (オトコヨ, lit. Man Hunt), a version of hide and seek played by children dressed in fox masks, near the ruins of an abandoned old town inspired by Kowloon. The children who play this disappear are believed to be spirited away from demons. Kakurenbo follows Hickora, a boy who joins the game with the hope of finding his missing sister Sorinchu. The storyline is built on the idea that Tokyo is losing its natural aesthetic, which includes children's games such as hide and seek in order for industrial progress, i.e. lighting the city of Tokyo, to cost the innocence of children's games. Characters Hickor (ヒコラ) Voiced: Yunko Takeuchi (Japanese); Michael Synterniclaas (English) A young guy who plays a game to find his missing sister. Sorincha (ソリンチャ) Voiced: Masami Suzuki (Japanese); Sister Veronica Taylor (English) Hickor, who went missing while playing the game with other children. Yaimao (ヤイマオ) Voiced: Makoto Ve (Japanese); Dan Green (English) Hikor's best friend, who plays the game, to reach out in the search for Sorinch. Noshiga (ノシガ) Voiced: Ryo Nayto (Japanese); Sean Shemmel Is the leader of his small gang who claims not to be afraid of demons. Tachigi (タチジ) Voiced: Mika Ishibashi (Japanese); Tom Wayland One of Noshig's gang members. He has blonde hair and wears glasses. (スク) Voiced by: Akiko Kobayasi (Japanese); Veronica Taylor (English) Another member of the Noshiga gang. It is short and has a large, red scarf. Inmu (インム) and Janka (ヤンク) Twin brothers with a dark past. Their reason for the game is a mystery. Demons As soon as seven children walk through the gates to take to the abandoned streets, they are chased by four different demons and then finally one demon who is this. [1] They guard the battery tower in the city center, where every child they catch will be used as energy elements for the city. The tower has socket rows that move on to the very first children who have played. Kimotori (肝取鬼, lit. Liver-Taker) Three armed, four-legged, red human-like demon who holds a mechanical wheel on his back. Captures Tachigi and then. Chitori (血取鬼, lit. Captures Noshiga. Aburatory (油取鬼, lit. one sits on a menacing trolley, and the other pulls it. Captures both Inma and Janka. Kotori (子取鬼, lit. Captures Yaimao. Omimao-herself (おしら様, lit up. Great White Lord) Nine-tailed fox, which is a waxing of demons the last child to win the game Otokoyo, and wears a fox mask, which changes into an oni mask worn by a person who is her. At the beginning of the film, she owned Sorinch (who apparently won the game in front of Hickor), and in the end she owned Hickor after winning the game. Kakurenbo's reception premiered in March 2005 at the Tokyo International Anime Fair, where she won the award for prominent entry into the overall category. In Korea, he received a Best Film nomination at the Seoul Comics and Animation Festival. He then went on to win best short film at the Fantasy Festival in Montreal. It was shown on Adult Swim on Halloween 2005. [2] References to ^ In Japan, the tag game is known as Onigokko (鬼ごっこ), where the person who is it is Oni. Kingston, Malakai (2005-10-12). Even if you try to hide it, its no use. Dean Dong, hurry to open the door, I came. It's too late to run. Looking through the window, our eyes met. Two of the oces are frozen in fear. I want to see up close. Dean Dong, I walked in. Hurry up and run, let's play tag and have fun. Dean Dong, I'm going in. Hurry up and hide, let's play hide and seek and have fun. Knocking your marks, you can hear. Your ragged breath, hear it. Hide tight I see your hair hide tight head ... Knock, I'm in front of the door of your room. I'm leaving. I won't ask for permission. Knock, I'm inside your room. Where are you hiding? The game is almost over. I looked under the bed in your room. You're not here. Next, inside the closet. Dean dong, here you are. Dean dong, you've been here all the time. You're everything. Dean dong, I found you now. You're everything. Dean dong looks like I won. You're everything. Dean dong, get your fines. Dean dong, the game at the end. There's no one left. Dean dong, goodbye to everyone.
